A PARODY.

SUPPOSED TO HAVE BEEN SUNG BY GEORGE SMITH.

Way down upon the Hooche* river,
Far, far away,
There's where by chance I did diskiver
The wild cat Atlanta.
All up and down the whole creation,
I'm bound to roam;
Till I can raise a circulation,
Or spend my dimes at home.
All the world is sad and dreary,
Every where I roam; [weary
Oh, Bankers! how my heart grows
Of these new laws at home.

All round the little bank I wandered,
There I was seen,
And many are the dollars I have squandered
All of the "Fire and Marine;"
Once I could easy gull the people,
Now it is not so.
The Milwaukee folks have raised the d——l,
And so has Chicago!
All the world, &c.

But now I'll have a heart of steel,
The sword of vengeance draw,
And I will make the Printers feel
The strong arm of the law.
They're all against me, all but one—
Him I paid so well,
But could he get a larger sum,
He'd lie me into ——
All the world, &c.

GETTING AHEAD OF A MONARCH.

A friend of ours from across the waters, related to us the following anecdote as an actual occurrence in oriental climes. It possesses a depth of thought and freshness of wit too good to be lost:

A priest, learned in the lore of ancient and modern literature, had opened rooms for public instruction, and styled himself upon his door, "Professor of Universal Knowledge."

The King, in passing one day, observed the notice, and walking in, inquired what was meant by Universal Knowledge. The Priest answered, of course, it was the knowledge of all things possible. This answer, not exactly suiting the King, he resolved to test the capabilities of the Professor.

"If," says he, "you profess Universal Knowledge, then you will be able to answer three questions, which I shall propose to you. They are as follows, and you must answer them by to-morrow at this time, or your head will be struck from your shoulders. First, tell me how many baskets of earth there are in yonder mountain. Secondly, inform me how much the King is worth. Thirdly, tell me exactly of what the King is thinking about at this time."

This was another turn to affairs from what the Professor expected, and he was sorely perplexed. He went to his study at once, resolved to do his utmost to comply with such an unheard of, and to him unreasonable request. Books were snatched from his shelves—manuscripts were carefully examined—calculations made and all his available means put in requisition to solve these questions, on which depended his life. So few hours to accomplish so much—death the price of failure, together with a desire to establish his reputation, all wrought upon his mental and physical frame to such a degree that he was soon in a fever of excitement. He had almost buried himself in his books—scraps of paper with figures and signs covered his table, and lay scattered on the floor—yet the result was unattained. Still more intense grew the excitement as he thought, figured, and read, while the perspiration stood in large drops on his forehead, and rolled down his face. He was verging towards despair—his whole system trembled with nervous agitation, when his servant entering the room, alarmed at the wild and excited look of his master, eagerly inquired the cause. Hurriedly he related what had happened—the strange questions, the fearful penalty. Instead, however, of partaking of his master's emotions, the servant coolly replied:

"Is that all the trouble? Leave the matter to me—I'll answer for you."

After some conversation, it was proposed by the servant to adopt his master's habit, and meet the King at the appointed hour. This offer was readily acceded to by the Priest, who, to speak the truth, thought more of his own head than his servant's, just at that moment. Disguised as the Professor, the servant met the King, and told him that he was ready to answer his questions.

"Tell me, then," said the King, "how many baskets of earth are in yonder mountain."

"That depends, your Majesty, upon circumstances."

"What circumstances?"

"The size of the baskets. If one is as large as the mountain, one will contain it. If half as large, two—if one fourth, four, &c."

The King was so much amused at the reply, that he expressed himself satisfied, and proceeded to the second question.

"Tell me how much the King is worth?"

"Well your Majesty, Jesus Christ was sold for thirty pieces of silver, and he was the King of Heaven and Earth—so I conclude you are worth about one piece."

To this answer the King could not object, and he was nevertheless so pleased with the wit displayed, that he said—

"Very well, sir—but can you answer my last question, and tell me of what I am now thinking?"

"Most certainly, your majesty. You are now thinking that you are talking with the Priest Professor, whereas it is not, but only his servant."

It is unnecessary to add that both heads were safely on their shoulders, and both received rich tokens of kingly favor.

An enterprising young statesman says he can steer the Ship of State in perfect safety, if he can only keep his hand on the "tiller of the soil."

REVISED AND NEWLY ILLUSTRATED EDITION of Smith's Geography and Atlas, To which has been added ANCIENT GEOGRAPHY. THIS work has been very much enlarged, embellished with new illustrations throughout, designed expressly for it, critically corrected and thoroughly revised, so as to conform to the census of the United States for 1850—to that of Great Britain and Ireland, March, 1851, and to the latest that could be obtained of other countries. The acquisition of territory to the United States, the discovery of the mineral wealth of California and Australia, and the establishment of steam-communication between remote parts of the earth, has greatly increased geographical knowledge. The information thus obtained has been carefully collected and inserted in this edition. It has been not only necessary to correct the maps of former editions, but to add new maps of the States of California and Texas, of the Territories of Oregon, Washington, Utah, New Mexico, Nebraska, and the countries of Mexico and Central America, which has been done from the latest and best authorities. A large map of the Roman Empire is also added, to aid in the study of Ancient Geography. By a system of Emblems and Abbreviations, consisting of stars, crosses, books, steamboats, &c., conspicuously arranged on all the maps, representing the Grand Divisions of the Globe—the Government, Religion, State of Society, Population, Navigation, &c., of the more important countries, become apparent at the first glance, and they are calling into simultaneous exercise the powers of the mind and eye, impressions are made more abiding than by any other means whatever. Besides all this, the work is rendered still more valuable and complete by the addition of a complete compendium of ANCIENT GEOGRAPHY, which will be found as interesting and instructive as the more extended treatises on the subject. The Atlas has been not only thoroughly revised, corrected and enlarged, as stated above, but also contains a large number of new and interesting statistical tables, from the census of the United States and other sources. It will be bound in stiff cover only. A set of questions, for general revision, is appended to the work, which will be found of great convenience to the Teacher, and aid the Scholar, in bringing definitely and distinctly to his mind, in a condensed form, the main features of the subject he has gone over. These improvements and additions will greatly enhance the value of the work, and if the views and wishes of the author are fully carried out, much valuable time of the pupil will be saved, and great labor on the part of the teacher avoided. Smith's Series of Geography consists of Smith's Primary Geography for Beginners. Smith's Quarto Geography. And the Geography and Atlas mentioned above. For sale by Booksellers generally throughout the United States. Committees, Teachers and others engaged in the cause of Education, will be supplied with copies for examination. Published by DANIEL BURGESS & CO., No. 60 John st., N. Y.

CITY OF CHICAGO:

THE PROGRESS OF THE TURKISH WAR.

While every heart true to the love of liberty and friendly to the cause of the oppressed must exult over the recent victories gained by the Turkish armies in Wallachia, the full details of which were given by us on Monday, this joy must be soon checked by the reflection that these advantages can be but temporary, and in no wise alter the existing prospects of the issue. The only substantial benefit that can result to the Turks from their present success, is the undoubted prestige which the gaining of the first battle of a campaign undoubtedly does carry with it. Taking into consideration, also, the fact that the armies of the Porte are composed of men who firmly believe in omens and prognostics, and who will take the fact of the success which has thus far crowned their arms as a sure evidence of the smiles of Heaven upon their cause, this is in itself no inconsiderable advantage. But aside from this we very much fear that they have gained nothing by their victories, and any delusion which the news of their successes may have created in the minds of the more sanguine, will soon be unhappily dispelled. It is true that the Danube has been crossed at three points, and that at Oltenitza an engagement has taken place in which 18,000 Turks defeated 9,000 Russians, with a loss to the latter of 150 killed and 500 wounded; that Omer Pasha is master of the north bank of the Danube; that he has fortified Kalefat in the far west with a garrison of 12,000 men, and that Oltenitza and Kalavach are both occupied by the Turkish troops, one with 18,000 and the other with 4,000 men. These, we believe, are all the advantages which he has gained, and it cannot be denied that thus far fate has favored his course.—Besides this, also, the cross has paled before the crescent in another quarter. Selim Pasha, the commander of the Turkish forces on the Asiatic frontier, has crossed over to the Russian territory, defeated 15,000 men at Ciorick-Dere and has taken the Russian post of Orelle.

Thus far all is well. But to the other side of the picture. The Russian force now in Wallachia numbers 60,000 men; while the entire army with which Omer Pasha crossed the Danube cannot exceed 36,000 men. The Russians are abundantly supplied with horse and artillery, and the correspondents of the English papers speak of the force of the country there as eminently favorable for effective movements of cavalry. Omer Pasha has but very few horsemen. A similar unfortunate disproportion exists in regard to the opposite forces in Asia.—We believe with pleasure that in point of zeal and ardor the Turks may have the advantage; but in numbers, discipline and equipments, the Russians are manifestedly their superiors. Nor must it be forgotten that the Russian troops actually engaged in the present conflicts are mere detachments from the standing army of the Czar; that he could double them at a moment's warning; that he runs no risk of lacking money or supplies; that his army is in excellent training and discipline; while, on the other hand, the Turks are straitened for means, must have drawn heavily on their people for the present levies, and, whatever may be said of their courage, have as yet earned no claim to distinction for military skill.

All these considerations give a peculiar significance to the intelligence which our readers already have respecting the attitude of the Czar, and his intentions as evinced by his proclamation. In that audacious and overbearing document he solemnly announces that "Russia is provoked to combat, and no other means is left us than a recourse to arms, to compel the Ottoman government to respect treaties, and to obtain from it reparation for its offences." Taken in conjunction with the facts we have related, this manifesto would seem to close the door, finally, to all attempts at negotiation, and utterly preclude all hopes of a restoration of peace.

We have already expressed our views in regard to the reported coalition between the Czar, the King of Persia, and Dost Mahommed, and their intentions to attack British India. Should this intelligence be confirmed, as we apprehend it will, the Czar will place himself in the position of a man who desires and intends to set all Europe and all Asia in a blaze of war. It is entirely impossible to say with anything approaching to a certainty to what an extent the conflagration may reach, or what stupendous revolutions it may not effect before it is finally stayed.

As there is another steamer now due, we may expect soon to be in possession of news of the very highest interest and importance, and until then postpone any further speculations on the matter.

THE MYSTERY EXPLAINED.

We are happy to state to our friends at Ann Arbor, and others interested, that the gentleman who was supposed to have mysteriously disappeared from that place about the 21st of October, has turned up at his home in Pennsylvania, all safe and sound. We learn this fact by information from Pennsylvania, received on yesterday. The skirts of the Ann Arborians are clear of his blood.

EXECUTION OF LAWRENCE FOGARTY AT BUFFALO.

The execution of this young man, for the murder of a Mr. Brown, of Alden, took place in the court-yard of the jail at Buffalo, on Friday morning last. The Advertiser of that city contains a column and a half in description of the execution, which, as usual, was "shockingly interesting." He died protesting his entire innocence of the crime, and affirming that he died in the full triumphs of the Catholic Faith.

☞ We notice with pleasure, by our exchanges, that in nearly every place that Ballard's Panorama of New York City is exhibited, that the largest Churches, Court Houses, and Public Rooms are found generally too small to accommodate the number of persons who wish to visit the Work. The fact that this fine work of art is so well patronised in Illinois, proves that our people have a taste for the fine arts, and had rather patronise them than the thousand-and-one Jim Crow, Tom Fool, Negro performances travelling the country. Ballard's Panorama is all that it purports to be, and we should be glad to see all real meritorious works of art making as much money as it is doing. The editor of the Belvidere Standard, in speaking of this work, says:

"We attended the exhibition of this Panorama last evening, not being among those late ones who arrived just in time to find the house full and the doors closed. The character of this Panorama is one which will never fail of being popular, as all the animated scenes of Broadway, on a fine summer's day, the buildings, the crowds of fashionables upon the sidewalks, military and other processions, apple stands, coal carts, ice wagons, milk carts, and newsboys, &c., are depicted with life-like accuracy; in fact, it seems as if the audience were in a 'bus,' taking it leisurely down townwards, with a very intelligent and civil spoken gentleman explaining the 'sights' to them as they went along. As we arrived at the Battery, the view was natural and enchanting, and proceeded up the North River side, the steamers and shipping lying at the piers, and the various water craft, are painted with a marvellous accuracy. The whole trip occupies about two hours, and very pleasantly spent they are."

NEW PUBLICATIONS.

JANUARY AND JUNE: being out-door thinkings and fireside musings. By Benj. F. Taylor. [illegible] Boston: [illegible] Chicago: A. H. & C. Burley, 121 Lake st.

The expected appearance of this book was announced by us some weeks since, and now that it has appeared, it will doubtless be in great request among the many warm personal friends of Mr. Taylor in this city. The book is elegantly printed, and bound in a style of very correct taste. We have only time this morning to copy the preface, which is a sparkling gem:

"A little preface to a little Book is a [illegible]; as those [illegible] are not [illegible].

[illegible] has declared that 'water enough by the mill, that the miller wots not of,' [illegible] a little [illegible] in the hollow of one's own hand. Not enough, indeed, to turn a wheel, but to quench, may be, a [illegible] thirst; to brighten an infant face, [illegible] to sparkle in dews, an opening leaves of [illegible].

Hark! [illegible] the mother, [illegible] the child."

CHICAGO & ST. CHARLES AIR LINE R. ROAD

Messrs. Editors Tribune:

I observe in your issue of the 23d inst., under the above head, a communication over the signature of "An Enquiring Man," in reference to an article that had previously appeared in the Democratic Press, and also making certain inquiries in reference to the doings of the Chicago, St. Charles and Mississippi Air Line Rail Road Company, &c.

Inasmuch as a considerable portion of your readers may be interested in knowing the facts about the subject of inquiry, I propose, with your permission, to answer the several questions propounded through the columns of your paper.

In answer to the first question, I beg leave to say that, under the terms of the contract made with the Messrs. Litchfield for the building and equipping the road, the Board of Directors, and I believe every individual Stock-holder of the Company, are fully satisfied that the company have a very desirable contract, and one much more for their interest than could have been secured at any time since the contract was made, with these or any other responsible company of Railroad contractors. Although the contract was made without public advertisement, yet experience has proved it to have been judicious, as we think every business man will admit, when it is understood that the road is to be built and fully equipped for $24,000 per mile; and the pay for the same, with the exception of $800,000 is to be made in stock and bonds of the Company at par value. When it is taken into account that the bonds of the best Railroad Companies, not excepting the Galena and Chicago Union Railroad Company, have been sold during the last year, at a very great discount, to say nothing of the bonds of new Companies, it seems to me that the first enquiry needs no farther answer, to satisfy all who are interested, at least.

In answer to the second question, of "How many of the Directors are interested in the profits to be made by the contraction of the road," I would say that Mr. Elisha C. Litchfield is the only Director interested—and I have no hesitation in saying that he will, at any moment, transfer his interest to any responsible person who will become obligated to fulfill his contract with the Company.

In reply to the third enquiry about a re-survey of a part of the road being made, &c., I would say that Mr. Litchfield has not, nor any one for him, caused any re-survey to be made, but on the contrary it was expressly stipulated in the contract for building the road, on the part of the Company, that they should improve the line as much as possible, without material variation from an air line, subject to the approval of the Company, as at the time of letting, but a preliminary survey and approximate estimate of cost had been made.

In accordance with that stipulation, the survey has been continued and improvements made, which are highly beneficial to the Company in lessening expense of future repairs.

In reply to the fourth inquiry, I would remark that Mr. Litchfield has not the option of changing the contract, nor the line of the road. And in answer to the fifth, sixth and seventh enquiries, "An Enquiring Man" is informed that the "subscriber of stock," nor any other person, never had any assurance different from what is above set forth.

And in answer to the eighth inquiry, (as it is a matter that has come within my own observation) although a matter entirely between the original and sub-contractors, I will say, that the estimates of work done, have been made by the Chief Engineer of the Company, and forwarded to the original contractors, who have in return paid their sub-contractors; one-third in stock, and balance in cash, as per their agreement. And I would here take occasion to remark, that in my opinion, if there has ever been any cause of complaint upon this head, it would have come with better grace, from Messrs. Collins & Co., the sub-contractors who have become deeply interested in this road, than from "An inquiring Man."

One word in answer to the last inquiry, and I will dismiss the subject. As yet the whole amount of instalments that have been called in and collected on stock subscribed in Illinois, has not been sufficient to pay for Depot Grounds and Right of Way, including the whole length of line and Depot Grounds at Chicago and Galena. Of the subscriptions to stock none has been used for the construction of the road except that portion of $450,000 subscribed in New York; and no bonds of the Company have yet been issued. Thus it will be seen that the greater part of the means for building the road thus far has been advanced by the Messrs. Litchfield, the contractors, in accordance with their contract. The subscriptions of the company are being payable at the rate of twenty-five per ct. per annum.

From this statement, the public can judge whether "it is intended to make the country stockholders pay their subscriptions while others are let off, and so build the road to St. Charles, and let it stop there." The road will be in running order to St. Charles before one-fourth of the country subscriptions are collected.

No reasonable man, would suppose that Messrs. Litchfields or any other persons, interested in the road would for a moment think of "building the road to St. Charles and there let it stop." Therefore, in answer to "An Inquiring Man's," last question I reply emphatically—NO.

Yours truly, IRA MINARD.

IOWA RAILROADS.

The Iowa City Reporter says the work on the Road between that city and Davenport has been temporarily abandoned. This road is to be the continuation of the Chicago and Rock Island Road, and we regret to see its progress slacken.

On the Lyons road, which is a continuation of the Galena's Air Line's connection, the Reporter says the work is progressing finely. We believe the latter road is in the hands of gentlemen connected with the Michigan Central Road, and is intended to make a part of the Air Line between Chicago and Iowa City, and also be a feeder to the Illinois Central. Early next year the whole will be completed.

QUINCY.

The people of Quincy are desirous of having their city made a port of entry. To show its importance as a place of trade, some statistics have been forwarded to Washington, of which the Whig embodies the following items:

	Tons.
The amount of downward freight shipped from Quincy from Nov. 1st, 1852, to Nov. 1st, 1853, was	27,000
Amount upward bound freight for same period	2,790
Number of steamboat landings for the year at this port	1,350

Forty steamboats are engaged in the Upper Mississippi Trade.

Their aggregate value is	$1,000,000
Cost of running same	1,400,000
Their average agg'ate tonnage	12,080 tons

The "Soft" Vote.—The New York Evening Post accounts for the unexpectedly small vote polled by the "Soft" party at the recent election, as follows:

"A great many persons were so offended with the resolutions passed by the convention of the Softs at Syracuse, that although greatly preferring the Verplanck ticket, they considered that to vote for it would imply assent to the resolutions under which it was nominated, and therefore they did not vote at all."

We incline to the opinion that the Post is correct in its supposition. The total vote cast in New York, at the recent election, was about 100,000 less than the number given five years ago. No one can for a moment suppose the number of actual voters in the State has decreased in that time. On the contrary, it is altogether probable the number has increased not less than 50,000. The question arises, therefore, why were not these voters out at the polls. Simply because they were not satisfied with the position of the party to which they had belonged.

A Hunker Organ.—We learn that the Detroit Daily Times is to become the organ of the Hards or Cass men of Detroit, the Free Press having forfeited their confidence by sustaining the course of the national administration in reference to the "Softs" of New York.

Correspondence of the Tribune.

A TRIP INTO INDIANA.

South Bend, Ind'a., Nov. 26, 1853.

Since the construction of the Michigan Southern and Northern Indiana Railroad, a resident of Chicago can leave his home, and by taking passage on this great thoroughfare, in a few hours will find himself in one of the most pleasant and thriving villages in Northern Indiana. For either a business or pleasure trip, one can arrive here at almost any hour of the day he may choose, as the time of the departure from your city of the trains on the Southern Michigan Railroad are so well arranged that no individual, no matter how pressing his engagements, can fail of being suited. The Express train, leaving Chicago at 6½ o'clock in the morning, will land a passenger at South Bend, (distance, 90 miles) at 9½ o'clock in the forenoon; the Mail train, leaving at 1 o'clock, is due here at 4½ o'clock in the afternoon; and the Evening Express, which leaves Chicago at 9 P. M., arrives at 12.40, A. M. The conductors on the road are usually very prompt in making their time, and as the Company have none other than the best running material, passengers are enabled to land at the numerous stations along the road at the promised time. As a passenger thoroughfare, the Southern Michigan Railroad has no superior in the West, and the immense travel over it during the past season is abundant proof of its great and increasing popularity.

The advantages of the road to this section of the State has been of a most happy character.—Farmers are brought into immediate connection with the principal markets; their grain, products of the dairy, and stock, all command an increased value; their lands are sought after by those who are moving into the country; and when the "tillers of the soil" are thus enriched, the community at large is equally benefitted.

As a sample of the farms in this neighborhood, I might make mention of one on Portage Prairie, not many miles from this village. It contains about 500 acres, principally prairie land, and is owned by Mr. Wm. Miller, one of the first settlers in the North west. This season he had under cultivation 140 acres, devoted exclusively to wheat, which will average 35 bushels to the acre, and has commanded from $1 to $1 12½ cents per bushel; also, 100 acres in corn, yielding 75 to 80 bushels to the acre, and bringing from 35 to 50 cents per bushel; together with fruit in abundance. During the Autumn he has sold over $700 worth of wool—two wagon loads which he carried to market, weighed 1100 hundred pounds, for which he was paid at the rate of 56 cents per pound.—The cash profits of his farm this season will be full $4,000—only calculating on what he will sell prior to another year. There is an abundance of soil, worth from $30 to $50 per acre, in this vicinity, to make plenty of such farms—the only articles needed being industry and perseverance. If many who are yearly toiling among the rocks and hills of New England could but come West to view the prairie soil, and its productive qualities, they might well exclaim, "Why was this not told me before?"

This village has a population of about 2800 inhabitants, and it enjoys an extensive trade with the surrounding country. Many thousands of dollars' worth of dry goods, groceries, clothing, hardware and iron, are yearly sold to the farming community, and the merchants during the past twelve months have done a thriving trade, and many are beginning to reckon on the benefits of it. The village is one of the best laid out and most thriving in the St. Joseph Valley, and its water power is excelled by none.—Its manufacturing interests are extensive—located as the town is in the midst of a country abounding in farming products and the choicest of timber. On the "race" are two extensive flouring mills, and large quantities of the manufactured material are annually sent to your city for a market, and the brands are inferior to none offered; also, two large tanneries, a veneering mill, (which furnishes material to the Chicago Cabinet manufacturers) two machine shops, a foundry, wool factory, &c. The demand for more extensive manufacturing facilities has caused the village capitalists to cut a side canal from a bend in the river above the corporation to a similar crook a short distance below the town, and the work is destined to be of the greatest importance to South Bend, in extending its manufacturing, and opening new branches of trade. This canal is on the east side of the main river, in a portion of the town but little inhabited as yet, but which will rapidly improve when this new water power is completed.

There are two weekly papers issued in this village—"The Forum," (a democratic journal,) and "The St. Joseph Valley Register." The latter is edited and published by Schuyler Colfax—a sterling Whig, an accomplished Odd Fellow, and a gentleman whom it is a pleasure to know. He has recently become the possessor of a steam printing press, and his efforts to distribute a paper containing the latest news and the choicest miscellany, combined with sound Whig doctrine, is ably seconded by his hosts of friends, who are daily sending to him clubs of subscribers from all parts of the State.

There was an abundant supply of amusements in this village last evening. The regular Singing School met in the basement of the Methodist Church; the Young Men's Lyceum held forth at the Academy; and a stray company of singers from the Wolverine State occupied a room entirely too large for their audience—and the few who were present, were by no means complimentary of the performance. There were many in that Singing School who could surpass them in vocal powers, and would not have to travel two hundred miles to secure an audience.

But this is enough for one visit. More the next time. S. M. S.

"Look on this Picture."—For some days past a well dressed and well appearing gentleman has been observed lingering about the Police Office—whose face was covered with an anxiety which he could not conceal, and whose peculiar watchfulness has attracted the attention of many. On Monday his secret was solved—how, we will show.

The gentleman is a resident of St. Louis—is wealthy, and looks like a genuine, whole souled man. In August last his wife suddenly decamped, taking with her their two children—a girl of fourteen and a boy of six years. He has spent the whole of his time from that period to the present, in searching for the truants—and during the time traced her into Canada. Arriving there he learned that she had come to this city, where he also came. Here he found that she had been engaged by one of our citizens as a servant, but had left in a few days after, taking with her a shawl or blanket belonging to the family. This fact had been communicated to the Police, who were on the look out for her. Searching about for some more definite clue to the faithless partner of his bosom, the husband found his daughter in a dance house on the Points, where she had been hired out by her mother as a pimp or bait—and at the time when her father found her she was receiving the caresses of a miserable being, from whom almost any woman would shrink as from corruption! Of course she was at once removed, and placed in safe keeping. From her he also learned that his wife was traveling upon a canal boat as a common cyprian, having the boy with her.

On Monday while the poor husband was walking through the streets in conversation with an officer, he spied his false one with the child. She did not notice him—but he pointed her out to the officer, and she was summarily arrested, taken before Justice Vanderpool, and committed to jail, for larceny, where she now is. The husband with his children returned yesterday to what was their home, but what will be a place of desolation and sorrow.

What a record! Would it were the unnatural growth of fiction—but that cannot be. Every word we have written is true as Holy Writ. Unwilling as we are to believe that any woman, and especially a wife and mother, could thus degrade herself and the fruit of her own body, we cannot escape the sorrowful truth. The angels fall; and those who are "a little lower" may also fall. Let those who need the lesson this little history contains take it to their hearts and improve its mournful teachings.—Buffalo Morning Express.

"THE WAY IT WAS DESTROYED."

Mr. Editor:—In the Daily Tribune of the 17th inst., received to-day, appears, under the above caption, a couple of paragraphs taken from the "Battle Creek Journal," preceded and accompanied by some laudatory editorial remarks, that are capable of doing much mischief with such as give full credence to all they find in print.

The writer of the paragraphs referred to attributes the present distracted and disastrous condition of the Whig party in Ohio, Massachusetts, Vermont, &c., to its abandonment, since 1848, of the anti slavery sentiment, by which, he seems to think, it was previously characterized.

The writer of this article is fully persuaded, by a somewhat extended and careful observation of political events, that a general prevalence of the views of the writer in the Journal, would prove very disastrous to the general welfare of the country, and fatal to the future hopes and prospects of the Whig party. The Journal man would have justified much higher hopes of his future usefulness and efficiency as a Whig leader, if he had extended his observations so far as to enable him to discover, that it has been the proclivity to anti-slavery and abolitionism, attempted to be given to the Whig platform, by over zealous and indiscreet, or weak and misguided would-be Whig leaders, that has caused Whigs to slide off, while nobody got on; thereby making "that party in Ohio, of things past."

It is painful to be reminded, by the course of an editor of much celebrity in an eastern city, heretofore claiming to be Whig, (who writes with great fluency and captivating speciousness, and whose glaring and delusive light is reflected with more or less distinctness, by hundreds of smaller but aspiring planets in the land,) of the bustling, fussy, and wordy housewife, who in her zeal to destroy the vermin that annoy her, scatters about her poison with so little prudence and discretion, as to excite the prudent vigilance of the intended victims, while the more simple, confiding and favorite domestic animals take it and are destroyed.

While the Whig party maintained its true character as the party conservative of all that is sound in principle and wholesome in practice; respecting and maintaining the constitutional rights of all; and progressive only in that which promotes actual improvement in the condition of the people, by encouraging industrial and frugal efforts to increase material comforts and conveniences, and such cultivation of the faculties and regulation of the desires as should enable them to derive from their condition and circumstances the greatest amount of enjoyment practical thereto, then it had the sympathies and good wishes of good men, and was strong, and either in success or under defeat it commanded respect and inspired confidence.

But when, hopelessly, it fell under the crushing and suffocating weight of the folly and iniquity of those light-headed, heartless, canting pretenders to superior goodness, who, for the sake of unmerited fame, money or place, have been variously employed, and exhausting their sickly energies and perverted faculties in waging and prosecuting a traitorous guerilla warfare upon the institutions of their country, and upon the rights and property of those with whom they are in governmental compact, to mutually respect each others rights; and in a base, prowling, groveling surveillance of the kitchen and domestic affairs of their fellow citizens; and whose hollow, blighting, driveling, and vagrant sympathies have been ostentatiously lavished upon those not needing, or unworthy of an honest generous sympathy; then it incurred the distrust of the honest and patriotic, and thus it was that the Whig party was nearly destroyed.

This will suggest the course necessary for the reinvigoration of this party; a thing very possible, and quite desirable to.

Your Obedient Servant, D. L. B.

Beloit, Nov. 19, 1853.

A SCENE AT THE NATIONAL.

The Washington Star of Wednesday last, contains the following sketch of a delightful meeting between Prince John Van Buren and the Editor of the Sentinel:

Madame rumor tells funny stories sometimes. She gives the following account of an interview between Prince John Van Buren, on his recent visit to this city, and Colonel Beverly Tucker, the Sentinel of the Hards. The scene was at the National Hotel, where the Prince stopped, and where the gallant Colonel met him, and thus accosted him:

T.—Why, John, how are you? What the devil brought you here? Have the Hards driven you out of Gotham, or has Guthrie called you down here to give an account of yourself? How's the election?

P. J.—God bless you, Bev., how do you do? As for the election, I know nothing about it; Guthrie is all right; I go in for the resolutions of '98; hold that "the blood of the martyrs is the seed of the Church," and my business here is to buy a nigger!

T.—Buy a nigger! Good gracious, Prince, how you surprise me!

P. J.—Yes, buy a nigger! I consider a nigger the great panacea, the ornament of the christian, the emblem of faith and fidelity in the politician, and, altogether something very important to mankind generally. Just see how Bronson has been puffed into a star of the first magnitude by galvanizing a short lecture to Guthrie upon niggers—they have nearly made a great man out of Dickinson—more than half humanized Charley O'Conor, and even raised poor Cooley to the precincts of notoriety. Since miracles have ceased, no such wonders have been performed before, and all by niggers. Nothing in Edmonds about spirit rappings begins to come up to it. I tell you, Bev., I must have a nigger—my fame requires it, and my personal wants demand it!

T.—Nonsense, John; but do you really want a nigger—because, if you do, you must have one.

P. J.—Why, certainly I do. Everybody seems to doubt every thing I say about niggers. I tell you, Bev., I have changed my mind upon that subject, and though I did not think so once, I now regard "the Wilmot" with the same abhorrence I do the Maine law. It's sumptuary, merely—a check upon pleasure—upon personal comfort—upon chivalry—and, finally, a check upon niggers, and, therefore, wrong. Any man that can't see this, hasn't got a nigger in his eye, and any man that hasn't got a nigger in his eye in these days, is no man at all.

T.—Why, John, you talk like a Saint! Give us your views in the Sentinel, and then you will be considered orthodox. They are as sound as a nut. I thought you would come round at last.

P. J.—Sound! Why I am as sound on niggers as the stump candidate for select men was on the goose question. The only trouble is to make the world believe it. I want to "crush out" unbelief, and the Sentinel isn't strong enough for that. I must have a nigger—a real Hard nigger—an ordained Adamantine—such an one as Dickinson would delight to chase, and as would make a fit companion for Cooley. I tell you, Bev., that I must get ahead of the whole batch, and

"Niggers! niggers! niggers are the cards
Wherewith to catch the conscience of the Hards."

I suppose we agree on the Maine law.

T.—Ah! John, therein we do harmonize perfectly, and * * *

The colloquists then retired into a corner. It is shrewdly suspected to converse about the printing of Congress.

MURDER AND LYNCHING ON THE PLAINS.

Several persons, returned Californians, arrived in this city lately, by way of New Orleans.—They bring accounts of a murder, which was said to have been committed several months ago, on the plains, near the base of the Rocky Mountains. We understand it has been also mentioned in late letters from California, received by persons in this vicinity.

Mr. Selby, lately a farmer in Columbia Bottom, St. Louis county, emigrated to California, in 1849, with his mother and sisters. He was successful in mining, and accumulated a handsome sum of money. In 1852, one Jack Wilson, who had married a sister of Selby, and who had lived also in this county, went out. He persuaded Selby to return here with him, and buy stock. The latter agreed to the proposition, and accordingly they came back early in the spring, and brought $6000 worth of cattle, Selby paying all the money. Their purchases were made in Missouri and Illinois—mostly in the latter State. Benjamin Wilson, a brother of Jack Wilson, joined them, to assist in driving the stock to California. On their way across the Plains, it is said that the two Wilsons murdered Selby, for the purpose of possessing themselves of his property, and buried his body. A party of emigrants who were a few days march behind them, found the body, and overtook the Wilsons with the drove of cattle, at a place where the had stopped for a few days rest. Finding some of Selby's papers and effects in their possession, they brought them to trial, and lynched them by hanging them side by side, to the branch of a tree. The emigrants drove the cattle on to California, and delivered them to Selby's relatives. The story may be doubted, as no mention of any such transaction is made in the last California papers.—St. Louis Intelligencer.

PHASES OF TURKISH LIFE.
THE LAW OF SUCCESSION—THE HAREM.

There is no country of Europe, or indeed of the world, to which public attention is at present so universally directed, as Turkey. The recent political events which have transpired there, and the desperate and well contested struggle which she is now making for very existence, has drawn towards her the liveliest interest and sympathy from every portion of the civilized world. At the same time, this interest which we feel for the Turks is equalled by the almost entire ignorance which generally exists concerning their social and domestic life. We imagine, therefore, that any reliable information upon these points, would at the present day be peculiarly interesting and acceptable, and have complied from a lengthy and authentic article, which lately appeared in the N. Y. Times, the following statements, which we commend to our readers:

The Padishah never marries. While his royalty is considered a statelier thing that of other potentates, his domestic morality brings him down to the level of the animals—begging the animals' pardon for saying so; for, in fact, no animal outrages nature half so much as the Sultan. As we have said, he contracts no marriage, but takes women as they suit him. It is true the Koran bounds the number of the concubines to four, or seven, in some cases; but it is absurd to think the Lord of the Serai rules his conduct very strictly by the precepts of the book—precepts and principles which the maker of it himself could very cavalierly disregard. Buresque and others say that the Sultans abjured marriage ever since the days of Bajazet, who, taken prisoner, saw his favorite wife, Despina, exposed, nearly naked, to the gaze of the rude Mongol soldiery. This is but a feeble explanation of such an important feature in the national policy of Turkey. The system of this empire was patriarchal, and the priests of Islam guarded against any introduction of that feudal aristocracy which would form a secular power in the State, counterbalancing their own, and at variance with the Scythian democracy, which came conquering from the desert. Such being the views of Islamism, the Sultans were brought to fall in with them, and adopt the harem principle—with little difficulty very probably. This system was necessarily persevered in; marriage with any Turkish ladies was out of the question. No Turk would permit his daughter to enter the Serai, a sort of slave in the midst of the slaves of Georgia, Circassia or Italy. Formerly, the girls of the Italian coasts—particularly those of Sicily—were preferred of all others. It was found that the Georgians and Circassians, with their languishing black eyes and languishing natures, had little of the active temperament and sprightly wit of the European maidens. It was a proverb, founded upon physical experience, that the children of the Italians were mostly boys, while those of the Asiatics were mostly girls. Formerly, Turkish pirates or other agencies, could carry off or procure young Italians or Sicilians; but now that source is dried up, and the inmates of the harem are mostly brought, in childhood, from the hills of Georgia and Circassia. Very often the poor little children that, in Europe, are sent to the Foundling Hospitals, are, (supposing they are beautiful) those which may the most readily become—as they have become—mothers of the greatest sovereigns in the world,—but there is no want of other children for the purpose. Parents are found who part with them, in the assurance they will be well cared for, and the hope of a royal result at some future time.

On his accession to the throne, the Sultan sends all his father's womankind away to the Eski Serai, or Old Palace, and proceeds to make his own selections. This was said to be done by marching down a long line of blooming and unveiled beauties, and tossing a handkerchief to the most captivating. But "the charming Mary Montagu," in one of her letters to her sister the Countess of Mar, speaking of an interview, at Adrainople, with the ex Sultana Hafiten, says this is a mistake. "The Sultana assured me," she writes, "that the story of the Sultan throwing a handkerchief is altogether fabulous, and the manner, upon that occasion, no other than this; he sends the Kislar Aga to signify to the young lady the honor he intends her, she is immediately complimented on it by the others, and led to the bath, where she is perfumed and dressed in most magnificent and becoming manner. The Emperor precedes his visit by a royal present, and then comes to her apartment. Neither is there any such a thing as creeping in at the bed-foot. Sometimes the Sultan diverts himself in the company of all his ladies, who stand in a circle round him, and she confessed they were ready to die with envy and jealousy of the happy she that he distinguished by any appearance of preference." The Sultana who first presents the Padishah with a son, is thenceforward styled the Khasseki Sultana—the Sultana par excellence. The birth of the boys is announced with enormous firing of cannon along the Bosphorus—a greater noise of artillery, as we are told by the laughably splenetic Macfarlane (who has pelted everything Turkish—from the Padishah's brother-inlaw, down to the dogs in the streets!) than the English make for their Waterloos and Trafalgars.

The mother of the Padishah's eldest son is held in high respect by the Sultanas. Her separate establishment,—they all have separate establishments,—and the number of her attendants are more considerable than those of the rest.—The Sultan's favorites when superannuated or not sufficiently captivating, go to the Old Palace, never to return. The mothers of daughters may marry, and some times do get high state officers for husbands. But the mothers of boys, thus sent away, have no such privilege. Their sons may become Padishahs. And when they do, the Sultana Validay, or Dowager, comes back to the New Serai, the most honored woman in the empire,—the friend and counsellor of her son, and "Mother of the Unfortunate" in all Islam. The Kislar Aga himself the sable governor of the whole palace, cannot come into the presence of the cadin, or the odaliks, till he is sent for, and then only sees them veiled. A cordon of female attendants completely extends round that "sacred" womanhood. The doctors who attend the establishment, and who are generally of the class of the other Nubians, are brought in after the patient has been covered in a veil, and when they want to feel pulses, they can only do it through a dainty bit of muslin cloth. When the harem is removed from one place to another,—from Summer to Winter quarters, there is as much trouble and watchfulness as in the movement of some large menagerie of wild animals. The women are closely veiled, and pass under awnings from the Serai gates to the gondolas or close barges—the blacks and bostangees running backward and forward, and warning every one to keep out of sight,—not to look the wrong way on the peril of his life.

These family conditions of the Ottoman dynasty are its worst features. The brothers and other male relatives of the reigning prince are kept in seclusion. They are not allowed to have any but very old women about them—lest they should increase the royal family, and so make greater the chance of confusion in the matter of succession, which does not go with the eldest son. The father or the divan may set him aside for another son, considered more eligible. The fate of the secluded princes is very unhappy; they live—if such a vegetation can be called life—in the midst of splendid surroundings and tantalized by those pleasures which they are not permitted to enjoy. If permitted to have favorites, they must always hold themselves ready to see their sons taken from them and perhaps strangled. As for the daughters of the Sultan, married to subjects, their lives, if they have any sensibility, are not less miserable than those of their brothers. Their male children would be considered as belonging to the royal family, and perhaps, in time pretender to the throne in some possible crisis. It is therefore understood (such is the testimony of most authorities on the subject,) that these boys are to be put out of the way. The eldest and favorite daughter of the late Sultan Mahmoud was married to Said Pasha, a man who rose from the indigent ranks of the people. This poor "Sun and Moon Sultana," as she was called, knew that if she had a male child it must be destroyed, and resolved she would not see its face. One of those women, whose sinister vocation in Turkey (at least in the larger cities,) would seem to be as general as that of accoucheuse, promised that abortion should be procured at the expense of a slight illness, and the unhappy wife accepted the officers of beldame. The result was that the Sultana perished. Her father, Mahmoud, was in despair, and doubtless deplored the deadly customs of his dynasty. Reformer as he was he did not, however, attempt to meddle with these. Another sister of the present Sultan Abdul Medjid, (or half sister, for these children of the same father had several mothers,) has lamented that curse of her sire's house. In 1842, Ayeta, the pure Sultana, was married to Halil Pasha, and in due time delivered of a male child. The boy was destroyed.—She and her unhappy husband, as they sat together after the bereavement, could have felt very little affection for the rank which entailed upon them such horrors. They pleaded strongly against such dire cruelty, and by dint of bribes and other interest with the members of the divan, obtained a promise that the next boy should live. When it was born, the mother kept it to her breast and nursed it for three days, in a tremor of maternal affection. At the end of that time she allowed it to be taken from her presence for a while, and then they came to say it had become sick—had died in convulsions. If the bereaved mother shrieked, her cries were not heard beyond the walls of Halil's harem; —but thinking of poor Ayeta's agony we can not but fancy her uttering something like this mallison of "O'Connor's Child," screamed against the fraternal cruelty which left her desolate.

And go, she cried, the combat seek,
Ye hearts that unappalled bore
The anguish of a sister's shriek—
Go, and return no more!
For sooner guilt the ordeal brand
Shall grasp unhurt, than ye shall hold
The banner with victorious hand
Beneath a sister's curse unrolled!

For the rest, those twelve millions of the race of Othman are a Democracy—after the Scythian model, to be sure,—but still a Democracy. By his mother's side, the Sultan is of the commonality—the plebs—half grex and half rex. There is no aristocracy of birth in Turkey—nothing between the Padishah and the poorest Ottoman on the Atmeydan. It is curious to consider that after all, the Sultan is more amendable than despotic; still more curious to find that the power of opinion is so great in his empire. The opinion which grows out of the Koran governs everything there. The Government is a monarchy tempered by priests. As we write we have one more proof that the Padishah is only secondary to the idea of the dynasty, or Islamism. The Sheik-ul Islm, and the sincere Mahomedans,—those who, all alone, have set their faces against any learning to the Christians or their modes,—are now satisfied with the English, French, and Austrian huggermugger, as something which extinguishes the volition and dignity of an independent soverign of an independent people; and Osmanlees are talking of putting aside the mild-blooded Abdul Medjid, and bringing his harem-caged brother, Ardul Assiz, to the throne in his stead.

THE ILLINOIS SLAVE LAW UNCONSTITUTIONAL.

The Quincy Whig of the 24th says,

"The case of the negro sold on Friday last by the Sheriff, came up before Judge Skinner yesterday, on habeas corpus, and the negro was discharged, the Judge deciding the law under which he was arrested to be unconstitutional.—This decision is according to the opinion of the Supreme Court in "Thornton's case," Illinois Reports, vol. 11, the decision being based upon the ground that the statute assumes to legislate on a subject—the re-capture of fugitive slaves—over which Congress, under the Constitution of the United States, has the supreme and exclusive power of legislation, and this very statute being declared void by the Supreme Court."

☞ At the recent demonstration of the 'Hards' in New York city, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the late election has demonstrated that it is the earnest wish and conviction of the Democracy of this State that the Senate of the United States, for the preservation of State rights, and for the rebuke of the Cabinet which has dared to violate them, should refuse to confirm the appointment of Heman J. Redfield as Collector of this Port. And, also, that the President of the United States, should for his own fame and the success of the Democratic party, dismiss his present Cabinet at his earliest possible convenience.

MARRIED.

ANOTHER INSTANCE OF TAPE WORM CURED BY THE USE OF DR McLANE'S CELEBRATED VERMIFUGE.

New York, October 15, 1851.

☞ This is to certify that I was troubled with a tape worm for more than six months. I tried all the known remedies for this dreadful affliction, but without being able to destroy it. I got one of Dr. McLane's Almanacs, which contained notices of several wonderful cures that had been performed by his celebrated Vermifuge. I resolved to try it, and immediately purchased a bottle, which I took according to directions; and the result was, I discharged one large tape worm, measuring more than a yard, besides a number of small ones.

EXTRAORDINARY CURE OF RHEUMATIC FEVER by Holloway's Pills, in Van Deimen's Land.—Margaret M'Connigan, nineteen years of age, residing at New Town, had been suffering from a violent rheumatic fever for upwards of two months, which had entirely deprived her of the use of her limbs. During this period she was under the care of three of the most eminent medical men in Hobart Town, and by them her case was considered hopeless. A friend prevailed upon her parents to try Holloway's celebrated Pills, which they consented to do, and in an incredibly short space of time a perfect cure was effected. The particulars of this case are copied from the Hobart Town Courier. no28

CHICAGO MARKET.

Office of the Chicago Daily Tribune,
Monday Evening, Nov. 28.—7 P. M.

Transactions in Produce were very limited to-day, there being scarcely any thing changing hands except at the depot. The light receipts by Canal do not affect the market as the grain from that source goes immediately on board vessels. There is nothing arriving by teams, and the receipts by Railroad are growing lighter every day. Good milling Wheat is in fair request, with but little offering. No inquiry for Corn, and but small lots change hands. Oats remain as previously quoted. In Rye and Barley, there is nothing doing.

We note operations for the day as follows:

FLOUR—Sales of 20 bbls Ottawa Mills Family brands, at $6.50. 10 bbls Waverly Mills, at $5.

WHEAT—Sales of 400 bu prime spring, in small lots, at 90c. 150 bu good winter, at $1: 40 bu white at $1.10: 200 bu common spring, at 85@87c, to warehouse.

CORN—Sale of 1500 bu at 48c on board: 78 bu in ear, at 35½c.

OATS—Sales of lots at depot, at 26c on the track; and 28c. delivered: 3,000 bu afloat, at 27c.

BARLEY—Nominal at 48@50c.

RYE—Unchanged at 58@60c.

HOGS—At the depot, 8 were sold at $4 ℔ 100 lbs.

FOWLS—Scarce and commanding high prices

VENISON.—Sale of 23 carcase at $4 each.

BUTTER—Dull at 13@14c for firkin; 15@16c for fresh roll.

EGGS—Quick at 17@18c.

POTATOES—At the depot, good varieties sell at 37½c ℔ bu.

FREIGHTS—The schooner Miranda is taken at 14c for corn to Buffalo; prop Sciota takes 16,000 bu wheat to Buffalo at 16c.

By Southern Michigan Telegraph.

BUFFALO MARKET.—Nov. 26—2 P.M.

FLOUR.—The market is dull and inactive this morning. Holders ask $6@6.12, but buyers do not come forward, preferring to wait for steamer's news, now over due, at New York.

WHEAT—Dull, and no sales. White held at $1.42; $1.40 offered.—CORN in good supply, and market heavy. Sales, 5,000 bu at 63½c.

WHISKEY—Dull at 24½c.

NEW YORK MARKET—Nov. 26—2 P.M.

FLOUR—Market firmer, and prices show a slight improvement. Sales: 10,000 bbls at $6,87@7.00 for Ohio and Michigan.

WHEAT—Market firmer, and demand good. Sales: 50,000 bu at $1.78 for white Ohio, $1.73@1.75 for do Michigan; $1.51@1.55 for upper Lake Red.——CORN better. Sales: 46,000 bu at 82½@83c for Western.

WHISKEY—28½@29c.

No steamer yet arrived.

[SECOND DESPATCH.]

BUFFALO MARKET—Nov. 28—2 P.M.

FLOUR—There was only a moderate inquiry this morning, and confined to small lots to the trade at 6.12½@6.25 for good to choice brands Ohio and Michigan.

WHEAT—A fair inquiry, but holders above buyers' views. No sales, except small lots.——CORN—Market dull, and buyers unwilling to meet holders. Sales: 20,000 bu at 64c.——OATS dull and no sales.

WHISKEY—A sha e firmer. Sales, 76 bbls at 25c.

NEW YORK MARKET.—Nov. 28.

FLOUR—Market better for Western and State; quite active in part for future delivery. Canadian inactive, but firm, at 7.00. Sales: Western Canal, 7,500 bbls at 6.87½@6.94 for common to straight State; 7@7.06 for common to good Ohio and mixed to fancy Michigan.

GRAIN—Good demand for export, and market rather better. Sales: 1600 bu Red Southern, at $1.55; 2,500 bu good white do, at $1.65@1.66; 1,000 bushels kood white, without name, $1.75; 2,200 bushels inferior to choice white Genesee, at $1.70@1.80; 27,000 good upper Lake, at $1.54@1.55; 9,500 white Michigan, at 1.71@1.74, 9,0 0 white Ohio, at 1.57@1.60, 6,000 bu white Canadian, at 1.73.——RYE firm. Sales; 6,000 bu at 100c.——CORN better, and active. Sales: 4,000 bu at 82@83c for Western mixed; 82½@83c for Southern and Northern yellow.

WHISKEY—Better market and active demand. 250 bbls at 28½c for Prison.

PROVISIONS—Fair demand for Pork: 13.75@14.00 for mess: 11.00@11.25 for pr me.——Beef firm at 11.00 for country mess; 5.00@5.63 for Chicago.——Lard, Butter, and Cheese quiet and unchanged.

$100 REWARD!

☞ Information wanted of the death of a little girl named SARAH ANN, belonging to P. O. Donoghue, of Chicago, who was formerly of Cincinnati, Ohio. Said child was brought from Cincinnati in the fall of 1841, by a man named John McNelis, who is supposed to have lived at some place on the Illinois river previous to moving to Ottawa the last of the year 1842, or nearly in 1843. As there are reasons for thinking that the child went into other hands previous to its death, it is particularly requested of undertakers living in the vicinity of Chicago at that time, to refer to their books to ascertain if such a child has been interred. Whoever can give any information whereby the facts of the child's death can be established, shall receive the above reward. Address S. P. SKINNER,

Chicago Commercial Chart for 1854.

HORNER & CRANE, General Advertising Agents, announce to the business men of Chicago that they are perfecting a Commercial Chart of Chicago for 1854. It will be executed in the most superb manner, printed in three colors, mounted on canvass and rollers, and finished in the most elaborate style. The Chart will be 76 inches by 54, and the squares allotted to subscribers, 8 inches by 8.

It is intended that the Chart shall be one of the most beautiful specimens of printing ever executed in the United States, and Horner & Crane pledge themselves to have it exposed in the most conspicuous places in the city, and in the principal towns on the railroads branching from Chicago, besides furnishing each advertiser with a mounted copy. In order to make the Chart as useful and desirable as possible, it will contain commercial statistics, a list of the churches and ministers, newspapers and editors, and such general information as will present at a glance the astonishing growth and present condition of the city.

THE WATER COMMISSION.

To the Water Commissioners of the city of Chicago:

Gentlemen:—I avail myself of your permission to address this letter to you, in compliance with a suggestion made by several citizens with whom I have conversed, who think it proper to communicate to the public my unchanged opinions in regard to the success of the plans for supplying the city with water.

The select committee of the Common Council who have had this subject under consideration, have published a report in this morning's paper, in which they state "that there is reason to fear that the present plan of construction" (of the works for supplying the city with water) "will not secure a present supply with certainty, and at a reasonable expense," and is not "capable of being gradually enlarged and adapted to the rapidly increasing population, without the necessity of abandoning the original plan, and reconstructing the works at an enormous expense and sacrifice."

I have also been informed that there has been considerable discussion on the same subject by the citizens, some of whom perhaps from not having had sufficient opportunity for examining the plans of the work, may have entertained fears similar to those expressed by the committee.

The works are now within a few weeks of completion, so far as is necessary to definitely determine whether the plans for furnishing a present supply, are adequate, and have been judiciously arranged. Every citizen will then be able to judge by occular demonstration, equally as well as the most experienced professional man. It is therefore believed that a discussion of these plans may be safely deferred for a short period, and until the result is practically before the citizens.

So much may be asked from the justice of the citizens towards one whose professional reputation is involved.

By reference to my report made and published some two years since, it will be seen that the plans which were then submitted were expressly arranged to be enlarged from time to time to meet the prospective increase of population, without incurring additional expenses by changes in the plans of any part of the work (except the substitution of a larger pumping machine at a remote period.)

In submitting these plans and in the subsequent execution of the work, my object was to furnish an ample and certain supply of water at all times, at a reasonable cost, and arranged to be enlarged from time to time without costly changes.

During the progress of the work, I have frequently and carefully considered all of the plans, and feel entire confidence that the works, which are now so nearly completed, will fully accomplish each one of these objects.

I am also confident that a careful examination, by any intelligent citizen, of these plans, and of the various provisions which have been made for meeting the points which I have stated, will satisfy him that the fears which have been expressed by the select committee are groundless.

The engine and pumps are nearly completed—the water has been conducted from the Lake to the pump well—over thirty miles of distribution pipes have been laid, and the works are in a condition that will permit, in a few weeks, the distribution of the water for use to all parts of the city where the pipes are laid.

The cost of the work to the present period will compare very favorably with any similar work in this country, and has been done at cheaper rates, considering all the circumstances, than any other city work within my observation or knowledge.

It may be proper for me to add, that I have examined the works and find that they have been constructed in accordance with the plans and instructions which I have furnished.

Very respectfully your ob't serv't,
WM. J. McALPINE,
Chief Eng. Chicago W. Works.

Capt. Harding's Acquittal.—We have omitted to notice the acquittal of Capt. Harding of Peru, on the charge preferred against him, some time ago, of receiving counterfeit bills on the Unadilla Bank, with the intention of passing them. The result was precisely as we anticipated. Some of the best men of the city, who had been intimately acquainted with Capt. H. during the last seven years, and who had transacted with him a large amount of business, involving large amounts of money, voluntarily went before the Court to testify their entire confidence in his integrity of character, and their utter disbelief that he would act in any manner, in his business transactions, not becoming a high-minded and honorable man. The only evidence against all this testimony, was the fact that Capt. H. was seen to receive money from parties who were known to be counterfeiters, and that the money proved to be spurious. This, Capt. H. averred, was received in payment for two horses, which he had sold.

Of the Jury, ten were for acquittal at once, and all as soon as the evidence and the law were compared and understood

We regret that Capt. H. has been placed, even for a short time, in a position where his reputation was involved, though he has come out of it so honorably. No one but a high minded and sensitive man can understand the crushing character of such an accusation as was brought against him. Still, we have no blame to attribute to our police in the matter, for they doubtless acted from a sense of duty.

MRS. JULIA BARROW.

This lady, so long and favorably known under her maiden name of Miss BENNETT, opens an engagement at the Theatre this evening, in the play of "As You Like It." She has been playing in the Southern cities during the season, and has won no ordinary amount of commendation from the best papers of the South. They describe her as being far in advance of all her cotemporaries. If she did not adhere so closely to nature she might perhaps be more popular with the "groundlings,"—the ardent lovers of the "blood and thunder style." But she would lose the good opinion of men of good taste. Her style is highly cultivated; it is an embodiment of the society of the English beau monde; and her portrayal of the dashing belle, the courtly lady, the heartless coquette, the virtuous Martha Gibbs, work girl, or the proud beauty, is the reality of scenes which every day, in some shape, meet the eye.

The Press of Memphis, from which city Mrs. Barrow comes to Chicago, thus recommends her to our attention:

"Saturday night concluded the engagement of this eminent actress, and she leaves to day, to fulfill an engagement at Chicago. We trust we have not seen the last of this most accomplished lady, and that she may be induced to visit us again, either this season or early in the next.—As a Shakesperian reader she has no equal upon the boards, and her rendering of the three characters of "Viola," "Rosalind" and "Beatrice" is incomparatively superior to that of any living actress. Miss Bennett has made many friends since her arrival here, who have been charmed as much by the social virtues of the woman as the excellence of the actress.

We most cordially commend Miss Bennett to the consideration of our brethern of the Press at Chicago, knowing that she can lose nothing by their criticisms, if they are but impartial."

INSANE.—A man giving his name as William B. Potter has been confined for the past three days in the Watch House, on complaint of insanity. He belongs in Wisconsin, and his friends have been written to, but no heed has yet been taken of the letters. Yesterday he was put in Jail, there being no accommodations for him at the County Poor House. Some suitable means should be provided for such persons; if it does not belong to the Board of Supervisors of this County to attend to it, let the subject be represented to the State Government in a suitable manner. In the event of an extra session, we trust this subject will receive its proper attention from our legislators. The present system of only admitting two from each County into the State Insane Asylum, is a disgrace to the age we live in. When there are such unfortunates in our midst, let them be well provided for; and restored, if possible, to society and a life of usefulness.

THE TUNNEL.

A meeting of the Tunnel Committee will be held this evening, at seven o'clock, in the Council Chamber. All are earnestly invited to be present, as a proposition will be made to report, and dissolve said committee. By order of

B. S. MORRIS, Chairman,

W. H. STICKNEY, Secretary.

MARINE.

The brig Minnesota, Capt. Napier, bound from Buffalo to this port, with a cargo of railroad iron, put into Cleveland on Thursday after last, with the loss of her foresail and mainsail. We learn by a telegraphic despatch, that she was ready to leave on the following afternoon.

The schooner Saltillo, Capt. Rich, from Buffalo, with a cargo of coal, bound to this port, was wrecked in the heavy gale of Thursday last on Lake Huron—vessel and cargo a total loss—all hands saved. The Saltillo was owned by James R. Hugunin of this city, and was insured for $3,800 in the North Western Insurance Company. Cargo was insured in the Chicago Mutual.

The steamer Fashion, Capt. H. L. Newberry, will leave this evening for Two Rivers—starting from Hugunin's dock, foot of Franklin street. She will continue her tripe as long as the weather will permit.

The brig Globe, Capt. Wheaton, arrived at Buffalo on Friday last, from this port, with a cargo of 2200 barrels of beef. Among the clearances on that day, were the following for this port: propellers Westmoreland and May Flower; barque Utica; schooner Pilgrim. Brig Nebraska cleared the same day for Milwaukee. The propeller Alleghany, and schooners Henry C. Winslow and Lady of the Lake, also left the same day for Cleveland.

SOLD.—The brig Orleans was sold at auction in this city on Saturday last, for $2,000 cash.—She was purchased by B. S. Shepard, and will continue in the lumber trade next season. She has been laid up for the winter.

POLICE COURT.

Before Judge RUCKER. The "dock" was full to overflowing yesterday morning, and the victims were disposed of in the following order:

John Wallace was charged with being drunk on Randolph street. He admitted the fact—said it was no use to deny it, and paid his fine of $2.

Edward Maher, an old candidate at the bar. He is well acquainted at the Bridewell, and always goes up after a "drunk." Fined $3, and re-committed for ten days.

Hiram C. Barker, a visitor from Racine. He met with too many friends, and there was no doubt in his mind but that he was drunk, when delivered at the Watch House. He would pay his fine of $2, if an officer would escort him to the vicinity of his friends to get the money.

Christopher Phizinbysen, (that is the name he gave,) was drunk in the new brick building on the corner of La Salle and Randolph streets, and fell through the floor into the cellar. His cost was increased in value by an appropriation of real estate, which, coming from a "corner lot," ought to make the garment valuable. Fined $3, and costs—$4 68 in all, and the account settled.

George Blake, a sorry looked individual, with a face bruised like a piece of tough steak. He said he had recently been employed on the schr. Venus, and was walking up from the North beach (alias, "the Sand") on Saturday night, when he was knocked down, brutally beaten, and robbed of several dollars. He was brought to the Watch House by some citizens, who found him wandering about the streets, perfectly bewildered. He was discharged, with the consolation that assistance would be rendered to ferret out the robbers, if he could give any clue to them.

Here the Marshal called the names of seven Lake Captains, who were arrested by a posse of the Police on Sunday evening about 9 o'clock, while riding down Clark street in a hack. The statement was that one of the number, who was exceedingly "happy," lost his cap out of the carriage window, sung out to the driver to stop; then followed a general shout, some crying "Fire," others hurraing for "Daniel O'Connell," &c. The disturbance created a general alarm of fire, and the congregations from two Churches turned out to see what was going on. The party were accommodated with state-rooms in the Watch House, and the Court inflicted on each a fine of from $1 to $10 and costs—in all amounting to $33 87, $25 of which goes to enrich the city.

Alexis Hurley, was arrested at 12 o'clock on Saturday night, for shouting on the street corners. He defied the Watch to arrest him, but was nevertheless put into the "lock up." His conduct being purely malicious, he was fined $5, and sent to the Bridewell for ten days.

Richard Allen, an unruly hack driver, for fighting at the Rock Island House on Sunday evening, was fined $5.

Wm. Rives, for being intoxicated in the street paid a fine of $3.

J. T. Goodrich was found drunk in the Post Office, and collecting a crowd of the unterrified about him. Fined $3.

E. W. Higgins, another candidate for the Temperance Society. Paid $2 and costs of protection for being drunk in the streets.

LECTURE ON CALIFORNIA.—There will be a descriptive lecture of Life and Scenes in California, given at Warner's Hall on this evening, commencing at 7½ o'clock. The themes upon which the lecturer intends to dwell, are varied and interesting, and we imagine the entertainment will be an admirable one.

MELLEN & Co., 50 Clark street, have received Harper's Magazine for December. We are glad to be able to say, that this number in a great measure, restores the good opinion which we used to entertain of this publication, but which faith had been somewhat shaken by the feebleness and puerility of many articles in some of the later numbers. The publishers announce the December number as "an entirely original" one. It can hardly be that, inasmuch as it contains Thackeray's novel of "The Newcomes." However, we are inclined to pardon all that, and some other things which we might scold about, were we not in a good humor, for and in consideration of three excellent articles, all of them illustrated with good wood cuts, and which, (the articles not the cuts) are of merit sufficient to hide a multitude of sins. We allude of course to the "Memoirs of the Holy Land," "The Virginian Canaan," and "A Pilgrimage to Plymouth."

SALT WATER PRODUCTIONS.—Fresh fish and a live lobster direct from the seaboard! What luxuries to one who knows the niceties of such things. HUGH SPEAR, at the Washington Coffee House, on the corner of State and Randolph streets, is a trump in procuring delicacies for the epicure; and if any of our citizens, natives of the Atlantic States, want to feast on the productions of the briny deep, let them call at the Washington, as Spear receives by express what can't be procured in Lake Michigan or any of its tributaries.

☞DR. A. L. ADAMS' INVALUABLE LIVER BALSAM is fast taking the precedent of all other medicines now before this great commonwealth, with a rapidity which is in (these times) wonderful. It has safely wrought its own battles in the most quiet and unostentatious manner. Within the past few months its reputation, of high tone, has become firmly established a mong thousands who have been restored from disease, which was fast hurrying them to a premature death.

Dr. A. L. Adams' Liver Balsam perfectly restores the liver in all its functions to a healthy state, and whereas it is a well established fact that most diseases are more or less incumbent on diseases of the liver for their type, those suffering from any form of disease, can have the most sanguine confidence that health, with all its beauty, will again dawn in upon them, by the use of Dr. A. L. Adams's Liver Balsam. It has cost the originator twenty years of scientific and profound research, to be clearly able to give his invaluable medicine to the public, with a confidence that it would produce the salutary effect. The complicated work has been effected, and its proclamation is heard by an intelligent people, giving it a reliable basis which ages will not obliterate. Warranted in every case.

THE HUMOROUS SPEAKER:
A CHOICE COLLECTION OF AMUSING PIECES, both in prose and verse, designed for the use of Schools, Literary Societies, Debating Clubs, Social Circles and Domestic Entertainment—by Oliver Oldham.
This book is a fine combination of what is useful with what is agreeable. It is just the thing to dissipate the gloom of severer studies, and give relief and life to the exercises of a school room. Here are Dialogues, Soliloquies and Speeches, of every name and style, all full of fun, wit and humor; yet without vulgarity, and without evil tendency of any kind. The work is primarily for schools, but it is equally adapted to debating societies, home circles and private readers.
[From the New York Daily Times.]
"The selections are well made, and embrace extracts from the most humorous writers of England and America, with translations of the best of Yriarte's Fables, and Reimer's humorous lyrics. Thus the good things of Hood, Saxe, Horace Smith, Judge Haliburton, Hawthorne, Dickens, Holmes and the Ingoldsby Legends, are mingled with the best things of Coleman, Garrick, Goldsmith, Wolcot, and others of the last century. Great care has evidently been taken to admit nothing bearing the likeness of an equivoque or a double entendre."
[From the Highland Eagle.]
"While it has the power to promote laughter, it does not do it at the expense of chastity, purity, or an elevated morality. It is a readable and agreeable book."
[From the Lutheran Observer.]
"If any one desires a book with which he may occasionally while away a dull hour over the finest witticisms, the best humorous compositions, and most amusing and sometimes instructive dialogues, &c. in the English language, here is the book that will suit him; and if there be a time to laugh as well as to cry, and the reader would prefer laughing at something neither vulgar nor demoralizing, he should buy this book."
☞The retail price of the Humorous Speaker is one dollar, and the book is sent by mail to teachers, post paid, on their sending the publishers that sum.
☞A liberal discount to those who purchase by the dozen or larger quantity.

BY TELEGRAPH

EXPRESSLY REPORTED FOR THE

CHICAGO DAILY TRIBUNE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28—3 P. M.

No news of the steamer Atlantic, now over 12 days out—nor of the Illinois or Prometheus.

BANGOR, Me., Nov. 28.

Navigation is closed. The anchor ice with the surface ice is making an obstruction of several feet. There are from 60 to 80 vessels with full cargoes inclosed with the ice, besides the steamers Daniel Webster, Boston, and Eastern State. The steamboats made an attempt on Sunday to force their way through, but abandoned it, and returned safely to their wharves. A contract has been made this morning with the agent of the shipping owners, and Col. John Godard and another, to cut out the channel to get out the vessels, at one dollar per ton, which will amount to $14,000. The job will last about seven days. The railroad force has been turned to the removal of the ice.

STILL LATER—EVENING.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.

The mail steamer Crescent City sailed this afternoon for Havana and New Orleans.

The steamer Illinois is below, with the California mails, treasure, and passengers.

BUFFALO, Nov. 28—6 P. M.

Lake Imports for 48 hours:

Flour 12,161 barrels, Pork 6,468 do., Beef 347 do, Whiskey 262 do. Wheat 67,216 bushels, Oats 12,198, Corn 10,976.

Arrived from Chicago, propeller Bucephalus, schooners Ivanhoe, and C. P. Williams; brig J. R. Giddings.

SORE THROAT, COUGHS, CONSUMPTION.
Pain in various parts of the body, and other unpleasant symptoms, are the effects of catching cold.
Wright's Indian Vegetable Pills are a delightful medicine for carrying off a cold, because they purge from the body all morbid and corrupt humors in an easy and natural manner. From three to six of said Indian Vegetable Pills, taken every night on going to bed, will, in a short time, make a perfect cure of the most obstinate cold—at the same time the blood and other fluids will be thoroughly purified, and the constitution so completely invigorated, that the body will be restored to even sounder health than before.
Beware of Counterfeits.

DISCOVERED AT LAST,
A Mystery Explained.
A Revolution is Certain—Victory is Ours!
Dr. A. L. Adams'
NEW THEORY OF DISEASE is awakening the inquiry in the minds of all who read it: How is it that Americans have been so long and so slavishly immured in darkness and ignorance on the subject of Disease.
DR. A. L. ADAMS' LIVER BALSAM,
THE GREAT PANECEA OF DISEASE,
is offered to the afflicted of the States and Territories, for the entire cure of Liver Complaints in all stages, Bilious Fever, Ague and Fever, Chronic Lung Fever, Dropsical Affections, Consumption, Bowel Complaints, Diarrhoea, Dysentery, Rheumatism, Bleeding Piles, Blind Piles, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Dyspepsia, General Debility, Nervousness, Costiveness, Indigestion, Obstructed Menstruation, &c.
Dr. A. L. Adams' Liver Balsam has stood the wreck and test for the last fifteen years, and has proved to the most skeptical, beyond a shadow of a doubt, that it is
THE ONLY RELIABLE MEDICINE EVER DISCOVERED,
(being purely all vegetable) for the permanent cure of the above diseases. The most skeptical have become its most sanguine votaries, and pronounce the Liver Balsam to be the
Only Reliable Harbinger of Health
TO THE AFFLICTED, EVERYWHERE.
Testimonials come up from every track it has made, swollen with expressions of gratitude, for the relief received by its use. And in submitting this, the Liver Balsam is recommended to all those suffering under the IRON GRASP OF THE MONSTER DISEASE,
The reader is referred to the Medical Tract, found by making application to the Agent, where the Balsam is sold, giving a full epitome of the causes and cure of all diseases; containing, also, certificates from those who have tested its unparalleled ascendancy over the diseases to which we are all subject. Sold by F. SCAMMON & CO.,

☞We would say to all our readers, and particularly to strangers, who need the services of an experienced Dentist, to call at the Dental Rooms of DR. HOLT, where they will be sure to have correct and honest advice given them, free of charge, respecting the preservation of their own or children's Teeth. The Doctor comes from New York, in which city he has been practicing as a Dentist during the past sixteen years, in Broadway, and brings letters of introduction and is highly recommended to a large number of our first citizens. Dr. Holt performs operations in Dentistry without giving the least pain, by using his combined liquid, which has been in his hands the means of saving thousands of teeth, which, otherwise, would have been pronounced, drugged, or broken off.

FOUNTAIN OF LIGHT.
NO. 49..............Randolph Street..............N
E. SIMONDS'
PURE PHOSGENE GAS.
THIS is a late chemical invention and improvement in artificial light, in which are combined four great and important desideratums, viz: Brilliancy, Economy, Cleanliness and Safety.
The lamps in which this new, most brilliant, safe and economical Gas is burnt, never decline or become dim, require no trimming, and are adapted to offices, hotels and general family use; having in the East, where first introduced, almost entirely superceded oil and candles, in place of which as a substitute, the proprietor proposes to sell, or will furnish upon loan, gratis, to any permanent resident of the city a beautiful Alabaster or Glass Stand Lamp suitable for a parlor, supper table, for study, &c., to be had on condition of purchasing the necessary articles to be used with the lamp and the supplies therefor, which is made from materials of the best quality in the art of manufacture. By the arrangement, requiring no additional expense for a lamp, persons are at no risk, for if upon a trial the lamp is not satisfactory it can be returned, and they can resume the use of their former lights. Aside from this kind of Gas and Lamps, will be kept for sale the common burning fluids, different kinds of spirit gas and fluid lamps, oil lamp chimneys, wicks, &c. oc25-1 f

WOODSON & DAVIS,
Sextons and General Undertkers,
No. 233 LAKE ST., CHICAGO.
WOULD respectfully inform the Public that they keep constantly on hand, every description of Coffins, Shrouds, Caps, &c., and also "FISK'S PATENT METALLIC BURIAL CASES," both of plain and ornamental finish. Hearse, Carriages, and every requisite for funerals, furnished at the shortest notice, and all calls promptly attended to, day or night.
The subscribers flatter themselves, that they will, in their new connection, and union of experience, (Mr. Woodson's in the east, and Mr. Davis' having, until now, been engaged in the business in New York) be able to give full satisfaction to all who may favor them with a call.

ARCHITECTURE.

THE SUBSCRIBER having located himself in this city, for the purpose of pursuing his profession, having studied and practiced the art for the past eighteen years, and had very extensive practice in designing and superintending the construction of every grade of building and style of architecture, both private and public, in the State of Massachusetts and the adjoining States, feels assured that in locating in this thriving section of the West, his services and talent will in a measure assist to supply the demand for designs and plans for the first class of buildings.
Gentlemen about to build Dwellings, Stores or Hotels and Committees on public buildings, churches, school houses, banks, halls, &c., are invited to give him a call, and examine plans, and make such investigations as will be for their interest.
And as it is a matter of economy, as well as saving much after disappointment, to have plans and specifications thoroughly matured and completed before putting them under contract, it is hoped that those about to build will commence in season to procure their plans, and by a strict attention to his patrons, he hopes to share a portion of their business.

PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD. THIS ROAD BEING NOW COMPLETE, it opens a communication between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, or PITTSBURGH AND BALTIMORE, by which Freight from the West can reach an Eastern market quicker and cheaper than by any of the present rival routes: they connect with the DAILY PACKETS AT PITTSBURGH, FROM ST. LOUIS, LOUISVILLE, CINCINNATI, WHEELING, And all the different points on the western waters, and with the CLEVELAND AND PITTSBURGH RAILROAD, and the OHIO AND PENNSYLVANIA RAILROAD AT PITTSBURGH. Cars run through between Pittsburgh and Philadelphia without transhipment of Freight, an advantage that can be appreciated by all shippers. In case of obstruction of navigation by ice or low water, freights westward can be forwarded from Pittsburgh to Cincinnati, or towns in the interior by railroad.
